

Giving feedback on assignments

Foundations for Teaching in Higher Education

Anna Auria
TA in EL lab/courses

Photo © A. Herzog

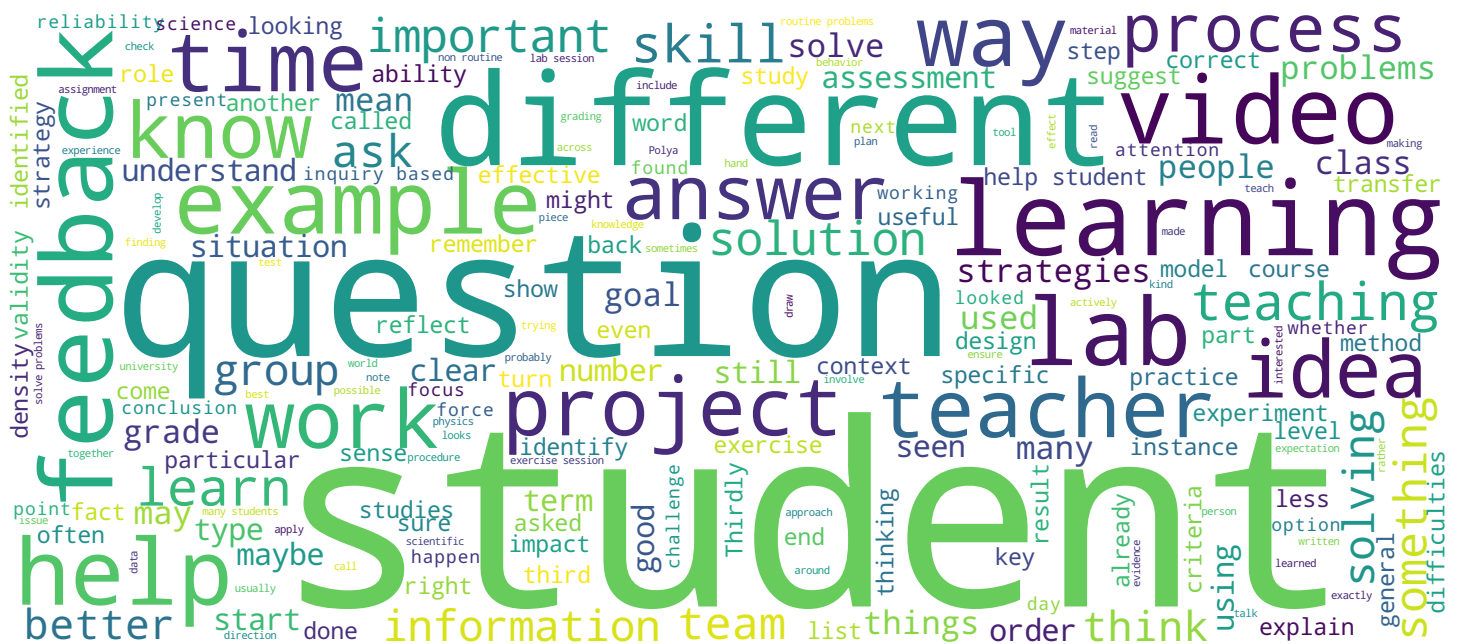

ÉCOLE POLYTECHNIQUE
FÉDÉRALE DE LAUSANNE

TA in EL lab/courses

Photo © A. Herzog

EPFL

So after watching the videos, something that remains an open challenge for me is still the relationship between assessment and grading. So I completely understand and agree with the idea that some written or oral feedback on the progress of the student is better than a grade. But still a final grade is the only thing that many students we will see after a final exam and still, I see that the grade is the only thing many of the students are interested in after submitting an assignment. So maybe I leave this as like something you can reflect on how you want to grade your students, how you want to give feedback to your students after lab session for instance.

Notes

Summary

0m 04s